MISS RAMSEY'S RECITAL

Concert Last Night a Notable Artistic and Financial Success.

wever Stake Tabernacle Filled in Every Part by Music-Lovers to Hear the New singer.

One of the most successful concerts ever given in Ogden was that of Miss Ramsey's in the Weber Stake tabernacle last night. The building was thronged in every part and something like $800 was taken in at the doors. Not since the concert of Miss Lulu Gates in the same auditorium a little over a year ago, has there been a musical audience so large or receipts so satisfactory as those of last evening.

Miss Ramsey was accorded a welcome that was most pronounced and young Arthur Pedersen, the boy violinist, was received by a veritable ovation, while Profs. McClellan, and Pedersen, as accompanists, did superb work. The program was almost ideal and at 10 o'clock the last number was rendered by stream and attackers and attackers. in strong and stirring style. The open-ing number was by the Ogden Taber-nacle choir under the direction of Mr. Joseph Ballantyne. "Hail Bright Abode" was the selection and right ably was it rendered. Then Miss Ram sey gave four numbers, "ich hab'im Traume geweint," by Franz, "Little One a Crying," by Sparks; "Slumber Boat," by Gaynor and "Marine," by Lalo. It is difficult to say in which she excelled or in which she received the most applause as she had her audience thorough sympathy from the begin-

When Young Arthur Pedersen had finished playing "The Twelfth Air" by De Berlot he received an ovation. Much artistic fire was observable throughout but the finale was executed with a master's hand and he was rewarded with a demonstration that would have warmed the heart of a veteran at the bow. He responded with a soul-stirring encore that moved his auditors almost Miss Ramsey's next number was the "Air du Freyschutz" by Weber. This is probably the most pretentious selection on her extensive reportoire and right capably did she acquit herself of Then followed a most excellent piece of work by the choir, "Springtime," which was repeated as an encore. "Fruhlingsnacht," by Schneider, and "Betrothal," by Browne, both won applause for Miss Ramsey and the everprefty and popular Scotch ballad, Bon-nie Sweet Bessie," brought forth ani-mated manifestations of approval. Ar-thur Padarson thur Pedersen made another hit in "The Russian Airs" and Miss Ramsey made it clear in the last number on the program, "The Mighty God Hath Spoken," that she had sung herself into the hearts of the Ogden people. After the audience had dispersed she received much exhausted, and not at all well, og three or four selections for them For the next few days she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Carroll, wife of the city editor of the Standard. Then she will undertake her southern tour and later hie herself away to th mountains for the rest that she very much needs right now.

DISASTROUS RUNAWAY.

A lively and disastrous runaway occurred yesterday afternoon, when the wealthy sheepman, ran away with his single buggy. Mr. Smith had driven his team in from his home at North Ogden and had tied them up at the home of a friend on Madison avenue, near Twen-ty-sixth street, while he went inside to transact some business. A neighbor's came out and playing around the team frightened them, they being very nervous, jumped back breaking the tie-strap. Before Mr. Smith could get out to them they had dashed down the street and were a block away running northward along Madison avenue. When in front of the Fourth ward meetinghouse the vehicle collided with a telegraph pole and was almost total-ly demolished. The horses continued on their wild chase for a considerable distance farther before they were stopped, and pieces of the harness were scattered for several blocks. The damage to the buggy and harness will amount to about $100.

ON TRIAL FOR BURGLARY.

The trial of Fred Engelke, charged with burglary and housebreaking, was heard before Judge Rolapp and a jury in the district court. A number of witnesses were examined for the state, whose testimony went to show that the laundry room of Fred J. Kiesel had been burglarized last January, and a quantity of clothing taken. Detective Pender, Capt. Brown and other officers testified to the arrest of Engelke and WATER CASE DECIDED. Other Court Cases-Radmall-Hanson Wedding.

Special Correspondence. Provo, June 20.-Judge Booth has made the following orders on defendent's motion to dissolve the temporary restraining order in the case of Spring-ville vs Mrs. Wm. Konold et al.

Defendants are entitled to three min-ers' inches of water delivered to them at or near this lower spring. This in-cludes the waters of the springs. If there is not enough water in the springs then the city is to give them enough to make the three miners' inches from their pipe in Spring creek. Or, at defendants' option, they may have the use of the entire waters of Spring creek for eight hours every 20 days. This order is temporary only.
